Declaration of consent for thesis publication on the IPU document server OEDPIUB

The IPU Berlin offers its graduates to publish their qualification theses with publication recommendation on OEDIPUB. OEDIPUB is a digital publication organ where psychoanalytic papers are published. If you are interested in publishing your work, please agree below to the further processing of your personal and work-related data for a specific purpose. We will get in touch with you.

The IPU Berlin continues to have an interest to provide its students with a variety of theses submitted to the university. They document the range of scholarly debate at the university and their findings may be of value for further academic research.

A digital copy of the thesis is stored by the IPU University and made available via an internal data server. Access to the documents is restricted to members of the IPU. These registered users are prohibited from reproducing, distributing and publicizing works or parts thereof.

As part of archiving the thesis, technical measures are implemented to prevent unlawful or unwanted handling of the works and to ensure restrictive use.

IPU reserves the right to exclude from archiving any work that does not meet the collection criteria.

For theses containing sensitive patient data, IPU is required to comply with obligations for data protection. In those cases, the university will perform blackening of the concerned passages or refrain from archiving.
